

I, too, am America

I am the distant relative
They ask me to go away
Back to my home
But I stay here
And follow my dreams
And become strong

The next day,
They'll want me to stay here
And feast with them
Nobody shall dare
Reject me
By my origin
Then

Furthermore
They'll see that I'm like them
And welcome me here

I, too, am American